Thoughts From the Ministry Center

Working in the ministry center gives me a different perspective on people. I see people from all walks of life, with all kinds of problems. Some of these problems are self-inflicted. Some are due to circumstances. Some are because of bad choices that have been made. But one thing remains constant...every person thinks their problem is the most important. As I study the life of Jesus, I see that He took each problem seriously. When people came to Him for help, their problem was the most important thing at that time. I see no where in scripture where he turned them away. I see no where in scripture where He told them He didn't have time to listen. I see no where in scripture where He didn't offer help. This year I hope that all of us can be like Jesus. I hope we will make a greater effort to listen. We may not be able to find a solution, but we can pray with people about their problems. Maybe you can do like Jesus. Listen and pray with people. Take their problems seriously. After all, the problems you have are serious, aren't they?

Working for His kingdom,
Cindy Brock
 CCM Director
